

Greatest Drive Of Red Cross Is Under Way

To-day Will Be Observed in Churches Throughout the City; Several Large Gifts
as the Roll Call Begins

Booths Open To-morrow
More Than 10,000 Workers
Will Take Part in the Intensive Campaign Here

Red Cross Sunday will be observed to-day in the churches throughout greater New York, in accordance with the proclamation issued by President Harding ushering in the sixth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, which opened officially yesterday.

At exactly two seconds after 11 o'clock yesterday morning, following a silent prayer in observance of Armistice Day, twenty-four carrier pigeons were released from the headquarters of the New York City chapter, 598 Madison Avenue, with great-est enthusiasm to the chapter in Brooklyn. These birds, mothers of the pigeons which were killed in Signal Corps service in France—all gold star mothers—belong to an ex-service man who is receiving vocational training through the interest of the Red Cross.

Theater Gives a Benefit
The Palace Theater contributed to-ward the Red Cross fund with a benefit vaudeville performance for Ser-geant Woodhill last night, under the direction of Mark Luescher.

Several large individual contribu-tions have been received at the New York offices, the largest single gift being from Mrs. E. H. Harriman, a con-tribution of $10,000. Mrs. Whitehall Reid paid for twenty $25 memberships for employees. Dr. John E. Bradman subscribed $2,000. More than $10,000 has been obtained in dollar member-ships.

This roll call is said by Red Cross leaders to be the most intensive ever conducted, even including the drives during the war. More than 10,000 workers have been recruited from busi-ness, society, schools, churches and various organizations. More than 4,000 workers have been assigned to the various lines of industrial activity, under 150 industrial group chairmen, each a leader in his field. The roll of 100 per cent membership has been re-ceived from some of the business es-tablishments covered in the canvass.

The Citizens' Committee of 100 men and women, under the general chair-manship of Martin W. Littleton, re-ported last night a ready response to the new roll call. One hundred and thirty booths will be opened to-mor-row in banks, restaurants, department stores and hotels for soliciting of new memberships. Mrs. Arthur Bleyer is chairman of the committee in charge of booths.

Clubwomen Are Active
Under the leadership of Mrs. Louis Ralston, a committee of twenty club-women will carry the Red Cross cam-paign into the New York City Federa-tion of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Harry Lilly is vice-chairman of the com-mittee. Mrs. Theodore M. Hardy is chairman for women's clubs in Brook-lyn. Mrs. Park Mathewson for Queens, Mrs. Will Hamilton Baker for Rich-mond and Mrs. Alfred Hausarth for the Bronx. The committee also in-cludes Mrs. Russell Bassett, Mrs. Grace Berner, Mrs. Arthur Brittain, Mrs. George M. Clyde, Mrs. Goodman Richard Davis, Mrs. William J. Har-roll, Mrs. Homer Lee, Mrs. J. W. Loeb, Mrs. Malcolm Parker MacCoy, Mrs. Henry Nassot, Mrs. A. W. Society Watches Thrilling Steeplechase at Hunt Club

Hard Banking, Ridden by Mr. Borage, Wins
Meadow Brook Cup After Half of 16 Starters
Were Thrown; 75 Ride in Morning Fox Hunt

Never since horses have raced on Long Island has there been seen a more thrilling steeplechase than was witnessed yesterday afternoon at Jericho by a large crowd of society people from all over Long Island, Man-hattan and Philadelphia. The event was the Meadow Brook Hunt Cup, held in connection with the annual point-to-point race of the Meadow Brook Hunt Club, and brought as fine a lot of hunt-ers to the start as have ever been beneath saddles. Hard Banking, ridden by Mr. Borage, finished first.

Twelve good ones faced Starter H. G. Godfrey and were away without any trouble. At the start Cola, owned by Sir Ashley Sparks and ridden by Mr. Bosley, went to the front and stayed there until he had traveled half of the route. The rest were trailing along about 200 feet in the rear.

Saddles Empty
Before half of the journey had been accomplished several saddles were empty when hunters took off badly or landed on their knees. This left the finish to eight horses. After the half had been passed the others be-gan to move up. Hard Banking took the lead from Cola, who dropped back to fourth place, and Wolferton II, ridden by Mr. Chestan, moved up be-side him.

The next to last field was as pretty a race as was ever witnessed between the flags. Both of the last named horses landed safely over the timber and their riders sat down to a hard drive for the last jump, then the run to the flag on the flat. Hard Bank-ing, who won a clever race at Bel-mont Terminal on Election Day, had the foot of his better jumping rival and went over the line with plenty of daylight between him and Wolf-erton II, while Stills, ridden by Mr. Keith Jr., was a poor third. The rest finished strung out. They were Meadow Grass, Mohab, Kingsfoot, Halo, Malagash and Atlanta. The dis-tance was about three and a half miles over a fence and rail course, several of the jumps being of the in and out variety.

Fine View of Course
The meet was held on the estates of Mr. Middleton S. Burrell and Mr. Henry Underhill at Jericho, and the high hill on the Underhill place gave five riders, half of whom were women. No fox was killed, but the members and their guests had a wonderful ride across country and had the pleasure of hearing the hounds in full cry for a few minutes.

Fears Rural Churches
Drive Youths to City
Prof. Smith, of Berea College,
Criticizes Country Hostility to Play Spirit

Hostility of churches and parents to the play spirit is alienating American youth from the rural church and home, said Professor John F. Smith, of Berea College, Kentucky, before the fifth annual conference of the American Coun-try Life Association, which closed a three-day program yesterday at Teach-ers College, Columbia University.

According to Professor Smith, there are not enough opportunities for play in the rural districts, and this makes for the alienation of parents and children. Parents should be taught to provide recreation for their children and for themselves. It is the lack of this element in farm life which causes so many young men to look elsewhere for the diversion which the farm should supply.

Richard S. Childs, vice-president of the National Municipal League of New York, said that flexible, capable and scientific rural government is the solu-tion of the problem. "The state is too big and the townships too small," said Mr. Childs, "and the country local gov-ernment must be completely reorgan-ized in the direction of simplicity."

Professor Bruce L. Melvin, of Ohio Wesleyan University, urged greater correlation between colleges and uni-versities teaching rural sociology and the communities they seek to benefit.

Clarko's Illness Not Serious
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 11.—In-quiry to-day at the home of John H. Clarko, former justice of the United States Supreme Court, regarding re-ports that he was seriously ill brought the statement that, on account of an indisposition, he had canceled several speaking engagements, but that his condition was very far from being se-rious, and he believed a few weeks' rest would restore him to his usual health.

Web Carter Falls
Mrs. Payne Whitney's Web Carter was looked to win this event, and was played by a number of the wise ones. He failed utterly, however, and was never in the running after refusing at the first jump. The feature of this event was the wonderful ride of Mr. R. Reed on Mrs. De Pister's Sweet Kiss. He fell when he was coming to the third jump from the end, but he got his horse up and finished with a rush that would have won the race for him easily if he had not fallen, but second was the best he could do.

The lightweight hunter class for the Butwell challenge cup, presented by Mr. David Dows, had but four starters. After the first jump there were but three in the event, as Balfe, owned by Sir Ashley Sparks and ridden by Mr. J. Bosley, refused the first jump and was never got over it.

Mr. Waddley, of Philadelphia, riding Mr. J. S. Phipps's Big Ben, was leading at the finish, but his mount was tired and he fumbled the jump and threw his rider. Mr. Waddley jumped up, however, and finished third. Fireman, owned and ridden by Mr. S. Sanford, won this event, while Mr. H. E. Dryer, riding his Dunottier, was second.

In the morning there was a fox hunt, which was attended by over seventy-
